

The invention relates to a biotechnology. The method includes a location of the embryo in isotonic solution for a conducting of the microsurgical operations with it. The embryo is extracted from an isotonic solution of the nutrient medium, it is putted for a time of the surgery in a hypotonic solution of a nutrient medium 190-200 mOsm osmolarity and it is returned back in the isotonic solution.