

The invention relates to bio-technology. The method is in milling embryonic tissue of animal, its homogenization and extraction in physiological solution, separation of deposit from solution. As embryonic tissue one takes muscular tissue of animal, homogenate is soaked during 10 – 20 h, and after extraction soaking of solution is performed during 24 ± 0.5 h.