

The invention relates to mining and is intended for fixation of mine workings in different and mostly in difficult mining-geological conditions. Arch yielding fixation has stands with straight lower sections placed at angle to vertical axis of fixation and curvilinear upper parts and arch roof beams connected to it with yielding fixation nodes.