

The invention relates to means for well drilling. The support has pad with pin, roller cutter installed on pin by means of fixation node placed in end rebores of roller cutter, radial and support bearings. Support bearing is arranged as controlled and fixed in axial direction in process of mounting element.