

An armchair for prevention of tiredness contains a seat hingedly mounted on the frame with elbow-rests and mobile back. The seat is hingedly installed on the frame by means of a screw pair and a lever being rested on the screw of this pair. Elbow-rests are made in the form of soft chutes and are fixed on the back movably by means of extensible moving on the vertical line transverse guide fixed by the set screw.