

The invention relates to the wine industry.

The method provides for the blending of dry wine materials with sugar-containing material, cooling of the blend, filtering and carbonation, keeping in a refrigerator.