

The invention relates to medicine. A method comprises taking away of kidney organocomplex with the segments of vessels, ureter and elements of paraorgan vegetative interlacement, storage of the isolated transplant with next anastomosing its arteries and veins with the recipient iliac vessels, ureter - with the urinary bladder and connection of the transplanted kidney-nervous complex with a recipient hypogastric nerve.