

The invention relates to the sport training device. The boxing training device comprises the dummy and the flexible suspension fastened to the dummy. The training device contains L-shaped bar with the boxing dummy being suspended to its bracket with the aid of the flexible suspension. The special shoulder-belt is used for attaching the device to the back of the sportsman.