

This invention belongs to pharmaceutical chemistry and provides for new method for treating enuresis in humans, wherein a series of 3-aryloxypropanamines is used.