

The invention relates to hydro-machine building. Installation has pump with suction mains, intake and supply pipelines connected to cylindrical intermediate chamber. Supply pipeline of suction mains includes suppressor of centrifugal pressure of liquid flow arranged as diameter partition separating intake bell of the pump into parts.