

The invention relates to medicine. A method comprises carrying out of middle ear cavity sanitation, back tympanotomy, restoration of tympanic membrane and placing of teflon gasket. A teflon drainage tube is introduced through the posterior wall of tympanic cavity to the auditory tube orifice, and the second drainage tube is introduced into aditus from the side of antromastoidal cavity, and the teflon gasket is placed tympanic cavity only.