

The present invention is directed to a process of, and intermediates for, making a Beta-methyl carbapenem intermediate of formula (VI) from a compound of formula (I), wherein R and F are protecting groups and Nu is a nucleophilic group.

