

The present invention concerns to the metallurgy and screw machining of articles. A stainless steel of ferrite structure with improved machinability contains carbon, silicon, manganese, nickel, chrome, sulfur, calcium and oxygen at certain quantity.