

The invention relates to complex of aquo of N-oxide 2-methyl pyridine manganese (II) chloride, having antiviral action and property to increase productivity and resistance of tobacco to viral diseases.