

The invention relates to power engineering, namely to design of heat exchangers of intermediary air cooling in compressors of gas-turbine units (GTU).

Heat exchanger has rotochamber with increasing flow section from periphery to the center, formed with edge covers and guiding apparatus in form of radial blade tip, exit branch for vapour gas, water inlet nozzle regularly located full-circle behind guiding apparatus.