

A reversible steering device of water jet propeller contains a box steering handle movably installed relative to its nozzle, two folds fixed with possibility of their free running in the axle rigidly installed on the nozzle of water jet propeller. The invention relates to the designs of reversible steering devices of water jet propellers.