

The invention relates to metallurgy of ferrous metals. Reinforced steel contains iron, carbon, manganese, silicon, chromium, nickel, copper, nitrogen, titanium, vanadium and niobium.