

The invention relates to the laminate. A material contains layers from flakes and fibrous bonding agent from poly (m-phenyl-phthalamide), which is made with good adhesion of surface and contains two outer layers and one inner layer.