

This invention relates to ventilation strip for ventilation of eaves, a ridge or a hip of roof with at least one taking the shape of contour of profiled cover plate and stretchable along ventilation strip section and one parallel to it rigid along ventilation strip section. The stretchable section has elongated across ventilation strip and placed in shifted one with respect to another rows elongated openings and / or slots, and the elongated openings and / or slots of one row are separated one from another with at least one elongated along ventilation strip long link.