

The invention relates to the medicine. The method involves administration of the preparation containing Bifidobacterium on wound surface. The liquid bifidobacterin previously diluted in the physiological acceptable carrier in the ratio no less than 1 : 3 is used as a preparation.