

The invention relates to area of compressor engineering, in particular to volumetric compressors in which gas is compressed as result of decrease of closed volume. Compressor has channel with ferro-liquid placed in it, this acts as piston, winding, branch pipe with suction and supercharge valves.