

Halogen-silver photographic material for radiography includes light-sensitive layers which are made of bromo-iodo-silver photographic emulsion/ The emulsion contains homogenous plain or plain lateral crystals of silver halide with the average grain size of 1.2-2.0 μm with the ratio of the crystal cross dimension (d) to its thickness (h) of $d:h \geq 8$.