

The invention relates to manufacturing of urea, in particular to high performance process for synthesis of urea from carbon dioxide and liquefied ammonia. The process involves stirring the solution of ammonium carbamate and gas mixture containing carbon dioxide and ammonia, supply of liquid-gas mixture to synthesis tower, synthesis fusion rectification and granulation.