

The invention relates to area of instrument making, in particular to devices for measurement of flow rate of liquid and gaseous media, and can be used for rating, control and account of gas flow rate at compressor stations, gas-pumping units in process of operation, before and after repair. Vortex flow rate meter has body with turbulator and electromagnetic indicators, charge amplifier, band filter, card ADP and computer.