

Invention relates to the field of measuring the flow rate of liquid or gas and can be used for creation on its base of the counters of volumetric flow rate of liquid or gas.
Sensor consists of measuring section of conduit, flow bodies and temperature detector located inside the conduit.