

The invention is related to the new pyrido[3.2-e]pyrazynones, having antiasthmatic and antiallergenic action, a method of its production by using the substitution reactions with the presence non-organic and organic basic catalysts. The medical specimen on the base of the pyrido[3.2-e]pyrazynone and a method of its production are also disclosed.