

The invention relates to the industry of building materials, particularly to the compositions of complex additives for concrete mixtures, using in production of concrete and reinforced concrete products and constructions, and also to the sphere for utilization of ecologically harmful wastes, forming by the neutralization of flowings of acid and alkaline etching of aluminum constructions.

The complex additive comprises sodium sulphate and aluminum sulphate.