

The invention relates to the machine-tool construction, namely to the readjusted aggregate machine tools. A multihead machine contains a drive motionlessly installed on the bed and equipped with an automatic clutch, which connects the shaft of electric motor with driving shaft of removable spindle box, a storage of spindle boxes.