

The invention relates to compositions of washing and cleaning agents and may be used for cleaning of surfaces from various types of contaminations, including radioactive ones.

An agent contains surface-active substance, detergent, abrasive, sodium silicate, complexons and water. It additionally contains clay.