

The invention relates to field of heat engineering, in particular to systems for heat and water supply, and can be used for preparation of heat carrier and hot water, for heating and hot water supply of separate objects, buildings or group of buildings in winter and summer. Autonomous installation has heat pump, systems of heating and hot water supply in winter and summer periods.