

The invention relates to radio engineering and can be used in radio broadcasting.

The radio broadcasting method consists in carrying out amplitude and phase radio signal modulation and radio signal reception is carried out by means of AM radio sets.