

The invention relates to the field of removal of mechanical particles of pollution and emulsion water from dielectric liquids and can be used for cleaning of working fluids of hydraulic systems, lubricating oils and fuels in all branches of national economy. A device includes a cylindrical housing with branch pipes of supply and discharge of liquid, a filter pack fixed on the dielectric plate.