

The invention relates to area of radar location and can be used in three-coordinate radar stations with non-sinusoidal pulse signal with nano-second duration for measurement of azimuth and angle of elevation of airborne target. Measuring device includes emitter with emission antenna, receiver and indicator.