

The invention relates to the reusable tare and can be used for packing, transport and storing of brittle articles, mainly of simplified form. A packing contains rectangular frames and fastening elements. It is made from four rectangular frames and valve that represent a one-piece plastic article made by casting.