

The invention relates to mining and can be used for destruction of lumps, for breaking stone blocks from massif and separation of blocks. Hydro-wedge has body with piston and rod, pressing jaws that are hinged to body at side of rod cavity and breaking wedge installed between jaws with possibility of long displacement with respect to those.