

A vehicle anti-theft system including a gear shift lock bolted to a vehicle chassis and having an axially displaceable locking shaft associated therewith which is automatically retractable out of locking engagement with a gear shift element in response to key actuation of the gear shift lock.