

The invention relates to deformation of metals, in particular to continuous rolling wire on the multiple stand rolling mills, and it can be used for producing the high-quality wire with a diameter of not less than 5 mm. A method includes multiple deformation of round blank in stands with three-roll passes.