

The invention relates to methods for treatment of surfaces of articles with protection agents for obtaining special effect, which may serve feature in definition of authenticity.

A method for the protection against falsification and free visualization of authenticity thereof comprises treatment with printing method of article surface, e.g. paper, polymer, ceramic with protection material.