

The invention relates to food industry, in particular to the manufacture of the products for treatment and prevention. A dry dairy product in tablets contains the proteinaceous base and the bacterial preparation consisting of acidophilic bacteria and bifidobacteria.