

The invention relates to collimator sights that are one of types of optical sights used for manual fire arms with sports, hunting and combat ones included. Collimator sight has body, objective-meniscus, in focal plane of which grid is placed and lamp for grid lighting, power source for lamp, mechanism for control and fixation of sight.