

A proliposome powder, said powder comprising in a single phase discrete particles of a biologically active component together with a lipid or mixture of lipids having a phase transition temperature of below 37 °C.