

A dresser for sorting the products of grain refining contains a set of screen frames located in mobile housing with the screen channels formed in them, receiving and tailings windows, moreover, receiving and tailings windows on each screen frame are located oppositely, moreover, screen frames are equipped with passages formed by walls of screen channels, in which through cuts are made.