

The proposed exploratory magnet has a case having inside the mounted magnetic system of constant magnets. The case is executed in form of the cylinder in which on an axis the magnetic system is placed. Additionally the case has the lateral elements which diameters are more than the cylinder diameter. The exploratory magnet has a mean to move it.