

The smoke indicator with insert with optical module has light source, light receiver, chamber for smoke registration, central diaphragm, base and labyrinth system with diaphragms placed at the periphery of smoke registration chamber diaphragms. The base is arranged in such way that in the center it has larger distance from the plane determined by light source and light receiver than at the edge.