

The invention relates to the mineral dressing and can be used at beneficiation of coal, ores of ferrous and nonferrous metals. A settling machine contains a housing, sieves with transverse partitions, elastic sieves with transverse cross connections located on the sieves, pulsators and drain threshold.