

The invention relates to the branch of building and in particular to traveling shuttering for erection of walls made of concrete blocks. Traveling shuttering has first module and transverse screen and pressing panel with openings for passage of cavity formers.