

The invention relates to the pipeline transport and can be used in oil and natural gas industry for cleaning and diagnostics of pipe. A device contains a chamber of launching (reception) with purifying scraper and final lock and a pressure branch pipe.