

The invention relates to medical electronics, in particular to balneology. It can be used at resorts and in sanatoriums, and in health establishments of industrial and "Chornobyl" zones at organization of drinking treatment of people with brought or local mineral waters, with ones that keep valuable properties under natural conditions only.