

Device contains stationary casing, in splined bushing of which is placed a splined shaft with fixed wedge. On the basis of fixed wedge is executed a longitudinal groove, in which, with possibility of longitudinal travel, is established an adjustable wedge connected with fixed wedge by screw mechanism.