

A synthetic textile arming component of rubber technical articles is used in the production of rubber articles. It contains itself on its warp and its weft synthetic complex threads, the component is made in the whole of synthetic complex threads, no less than 50 % of them have the loop structure, a thread of the loop structure is consisted of a shank-thread with a rupture extension of 15-40 % , the looping structure of its elementary threads of 5-25 % is, and loop-forming threads have the looping structure of its elementary threads no less than 30 %. The arming component has strength of connection with rubber in 1.5 times higher than of existing one, the breaking strength on warp and weft is in 1.6 times higher than of analogical indices of existing components.